Music remains long after other things have gone. Lyrics learned long ago can be embedded too deep for the ravages of age to erase them. The power of notes and harmonies to uplift, move, and connect synapses and people remains potent.

DISCLOSURE - this choir is for a bit of fun and friendship; we are not trained singers, we will not take ourselves too seriously and we will potentially sing out of tune. But at the end of each session we will be smiling.

Earplugs are available at all good chemists.
